Wharton School

This School established in 1881, was affiliated with the College Department until 1912 when it was organized as a separate department. It was originally known as the Wharton School of Finance and Economy, but Economy was dropped from the title and Commerce substituted. The Evening School of Finance and Accounts was added to the Wharton School while Wharton was yet a part of the College and it is, since 1912 still a part of Wharton. The Evening School grants a Cert. of Prof. and Wharton grants a B. S. in Econ.
